Set a bedtime, and don't get into bed before it. This may be later than you currently go to bed if you are already spending a lot of time in bed. You should stay up past your set bedtime if you are not feeling sleepy.

2 The 20 minute rule

Often people with insomnia notice that their mind begins to race when they turn off the light. You can stop this by leaving your bed when you don't fall asleep (or fall back to sleep) after 20 minutes of lying in bed. Plan ahead to do a relaxing activity when you leave the bed. Return to bed when sleepy. Repeat after 20 minutes, as needed.

Get out of bed each morning at the same time (or earlier)

If you can, sleep until it is your planned time to rise and start your day. Don't sleep or stay in bed past your rise time, regardless of how late you were up the night before.

🕢 Nap wisely

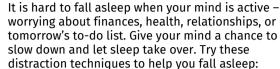

Don't nap if you don't need to. Avoid napping by getting active (ex. 20-minute walk). When a nap can't be avoided, limit yourself to a 10-20 minute power nap. Finish your nap before 3 pm.

5 Spend less time in bed

This may sound odd at first, but most people with insomnia spend a lot of time in bed trying to sleep. This creates sleep anxiety and makes it harder to sleep. Shortening your time in bed temporarily can lead to the unexpected benefit of giving you a better sleep with fewer interruptions. Gradually extend your time in bed as things improve. Distract your mind

- Grocery cart exercise: using your imagination, slowly walk through a grocery store and fill your cart, paying attention to each item you select.
- Word list challenge: think of a 5-letter word and come up with 5-10 words that start with each letter of the word. Add variety by choosing a theme – animals, names, cities, etc.

Take time to relax

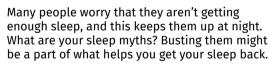

Before getting into bed, there are many ways to prepare your body and mind for sleep. Add a relaxation technique to your bedtime routine that lets you do this. Examples include: low light reading before getting into bed, the 4-7-8 breathing exercise, and toe-to-head progressive muscle tightening and relaxing.

8 Make being in bed about being asleep

Use your bed only for sleep, sex, & sickness if you are not sleeping well. Stop reading, writing, socializing, working, or snuggling with pets in bed. Any type of screen is to be avoided.

Bust your sleep myths

10 Healthy sleep habits start during the day

Having an active body & mind during the day are important for your mental, physical, and sleep health. This starts with bright light in the morning. Can you add more light right after waking up and more daytime activities that energize your body and mind?
